

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

65389911840 167289395314 7408206960 141145853568 81084259.619048 44976423.357143 2453222.8043478 5870737.3877551 12512135 35838610 17310441.956522 54144607440 38224522320 4024140.64 46338292950 909747.5

More unique attractions at Tweetsie Railroad are gold panning and gem mining. The staff were very short tempered. As you hike along the paved trail, which then turns to dirt, you'll encounter benches to rest on, as well as plaques that describe the various trees throughout the forest. One of my favorite attractions.View Full Story
Details Details$3.89 hollabaker32 hours agoPropaneC-StorePay At PumpRestroomsRestroomsAir PumpATMThis station was dirty. The gas is also usually cheaper than most places around, especially with my sheetz cardused to be very friendly. They are a family owned business that was founded in 1989. The store was bright and clean. The bathroom stalls was disgusting. They also have a live animal petting zoo with deer, llamas, donkeys, sheep, turtles and more. This experience is great for families, and you're assured to walk away with a souvenir.Tweetsie RailroadTweetsie Railroad is a theme park and is known as North Carolina's first. It was started in 1987 by Eustace Robinson Conway IV who owns the island preserve. Moretti Environmental Education Center, and the Jim Arthur Raptor Medical Center, which accepts almost a thousand birds every year for treatment.One of the most prominent activities here is the falcon shows, where the audience can watch as a trained falconer plays with these majestic birds of prey.Gary C. Please contact the business directly to verify hours, some don't even speak now.4993 NC-42 WGarner, NCS3.89 shermaneelc13 hours agoPropaneC-StorePay At PumpRestroomsAir PumpATMBeerWineGas here is usually cheaper than the surrounding area. This hike is an easy 1.2-mile hike out to the falls, or 2.4 miles round-trip.Appalachian Ski MountainIf you're traveling to Boone, NC in the winter season and you enjoy skiing, then a visit to the Appalachian Ski Mountain is a must. Simply call the number below and ask to speak to a funeral director to discuss your needs. You will be provided with a sieve to sift through dirt, rock and other particles searching for gems. November 2020 Love the way you can walk in and order.Even Better Their hours 24/7365 days...Even during the covid 19 these people sucked it up and said Hell Yea to the People Let's continue with life.Love this place.Shout out to the company and The driving force...Employees You all Rock!!!! More Comments(64) Nearest Sheetz Stores You May Also Like Sitting on the southern edge of beautiful Lake Norman is the charming community of Huntersville, North Carolina.This laid-back and historic destination is a large suburban town that's part of the Charlotte metropolitan area and home to more than 58,000 residents.Despite its size and population, Huntersville has maintained a small-town ambiance ideal for those who want a quick escape from busy urban lives.The community offers a wide range of natural attractions, manmade destinations, as well as historic sites for any age and preference.So bring your whole family or group of friends because there's something for everyone in this town.Here are the 15 best things to do in Huntersville, NC:See Jousting Knights at Carolina Renaissance FestivalJokul Heavy / Shutterstock.comFor eight weekends, Huntersville's townsfolk gather to create one of the largest Renaissance fairs in the US: the Carolina Renaissance Festival.The activity is held every October to November in a 325-acre autumn woodland area—the perfect setting for a magical celebration.Set in the fictional village called “Fairhaven,” the event is a gathering of local artisans, performers, and visitors from all over.Chansak Joe / Shutterstock.comYou'd find more than 140 vendors selling artisanal furniture, fine leather goods, handmade jewelry, artworks, and other premium products.In addition, there are 16 outdoor stages showcasing a wide variety of performances like comedy acts, magic shows, and dances.The most famous are the Jousting Knights on Horseback, The Ancient Art of Falconry, and the “Sea Fairies” Mermaid exhibit.So make sure you visit the town during fall if you plan to catch all the wonders of this festival.Chansak Joe / Shutterstock.comSee a Glimpse of the Past at Historic Latta PlantationIn the past, much of the land in Huntersville and the surrounding region was used as plantations.And much like the rest of the South, these lands were tilled by slaves under the supervision of their masters.This history, with all its grim and good aspects, is showcased and preserved here at Historic Latta Plantation.This attraction is a solemn facility listed under the National Register of Historic Places, having been around since the 1800s.It's composed of a Federal-style home and surrounding agricultural land, which has now been preserved to hold an array of activities.From battle reenactments to summer camps, the plantation is the venue for various educational events that are related to the site and Huntersville's history.By touring the house and joining the events, you'll gain an in-depth knowledge of life before the Civil War in the region.Let Your Child Learn at Discovery Place Kids-HuntersvilleFor those bringing children to their trip, make sure to stop by Discovery Place Kids-Huntersville.This children's museum is an interactive destination where the young ones can learn about various topics.It has themed areas, engaging exhibits, and even live events that allow visitors to immerse themselves in science, the environment, and different industries.Whether they want to be chefs, explorers, or firefighters, your kids can try any role they want to be within the museum.The most well-loved activities here are live shows, ranging from puppet plays to science experiments>Your children will learn about complex topics in an entertaining format during these performances.Check out their website to see upcoming shows so you can plan ahead!See Majestic Creatures at Carolina Raptor CenterGary C. The resort is on the smaller side with shorter ski runs, which is perfect for both beginner and advanced skiers.Turtle IslandTurtle Island is a 1,000-acre wildlife preserve and educational center. This article highlights some of the best attractions and things to do in Boone, NC.Foggy Mountain Gem MineGem mines are popular tourist attractions, and you'll be able to pan for the best gems at Foggy Mountain Gem Mine. This ski resort first opened in 1962 and is the second oldest in the state. Tognoni / Shutterstock.comThe Carolina Raptor Center is another family-friendly destination focused on the rehabilitation and care of the country's raptors.It all started when Dr. Dick Brown brought an injured Broad-winged Hawk under his care and treated it until it could fly again.Since then, the center has grown into a large facility that accepts more than 35,000 visitors every year.Gary C. We had never seen a Sheetz before and were impressed. April 2021 Came in here to get gas on our way to another place for the afternoon, but it was kind of hard to get into and out of. The camp got its name from an American Indian legend, and its purpose is preserving the Earth. Renaissance Funeral Home 7615 Six Forks Road Raleigh, NC 27615 Is Sheetz currently offering delivery or takeout?Yes, Sheetz offers delivery.What forms of payment are accepted?Sheetz accepts credit cards.How is Sheetz rated?Sheetz has 3.5 stars.What days are Sheetz open?Sheetz is open Mon, Tue, Wed, Thu, Fri, Sat, Sun. We were enticed by the coffee selections and really enjoyed our drinks. This trail will lead to some of the waterfalls along the Blue Ridge Parkway. Will avoid at all costs!View Full Station Details Details$447 NC-42 WGarner, NC$3.79 erakman5 hours agoPropaneC-StorePay At PumpRestroomsAir PumpATMOne of best places to buy diesel at Hwy 42 & 40. Some of the trees growing in this forest are chestnut oak, dogwood, tulip, pignut, black locust and many more. Boone, North Carolina was named after Daniel Boone, pioneer and explorer. It's located in the western part of the state in the Blue Ridge Mountains. Good gas prices and great location.View Full Station Details Details Estimated Cost $7,150 Compare » Estimated Cost $10,225 Compare » Estimated Cost $5,896 Compare » Estimated Cost $7,055 Compare » Estimated Cost $7,150 Compare » Estimated Cost $6,985 Compare » Estimated Cost $9,315 Compare » Estimated Cost $5,470 Compare » Estimated Cost $5,525 Compare » Estimated Cost $6,500 Compare » Estimated Cost $9,315 Compare » Service Type Average Price Lowest Price Traditional Funeral $7,150 $7,150 Cremation Memorial $4,500 $4,500 Direct Cremation $1,270 $1,270 Page 2 The funeral directors at Renaissance Funeral Home are available to provide you with expert advice. The park is best known for the three-mile train tour that winds its way through the North Carolina mountains.Cascades TrailThe Cascades Trail is a hiking trail throughout the forest of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The company guarantees that you won't go away empty-handed. Home Gas Price Search North Carolina Garner Sheetz (5502 Cornwallis Rd)Sheetz stations are always clean BRO HOW YALL AINT GOT 93 BUT 87 EVERY DAY !?Recommend to stop! Friendly employees and clean.All the service station is good for me.The workers are always nice and the food is amazing. We had to circle around both ways. They offer blacksmithing, hide tanning, forestry and other workshops, as well as, educational classes and camps for scouts and families. Tognoni / Shutterstock.comCruise the Waters of Mountain Island LakeMountain Island Lake is an artificial body of water sitting next to Carolina Raptor Center and the Historic Latta Plantation.It's an economically vital resource that provides electricity and water to the residents of Charlotte and the surrounding region.But it's also a favorite, less-crowded local attraction that offers a tranquil ambiance and beautiful lakeside views.The land feature from which it's named is a small mountain rising like an island, adding to the majestic scenery.For those who want to try water-related activities on the lake, you can visit the numerous boat launches surrounding it.There are outfitters in Huntersville that offer kayak and canoe rentals as well, allowing you to cruise the gentle currents towards the isolated sections of the lake.For wilder adventures, you can book a waterskiing trip and have a thrilling afternoon riding boat wakes.Go Horseback Riding at Latta Nature PreserveLatta Nature Preserve is a 1,460-acre outdoor attraction sitting next to Mountain Island Lake.As Mecklenburg County's largest nature preserve, the destination is home to many of the region's endemic flora and fauna, making it an important ecological hotspot.One of the favorite activities here is checking out the many scenic trails crisscrossing forests, spanning over 16 miles, which can be explored on foot or horseback.You'd have plenty of opportunities to spot the many birds, insects, and mammals that call this preserve home.If you want to learn more about these species, don't forget to visit the interpretive center for informative discussions and educational programs.And if you want to head into the water of Mountain Island Lake, there are boat launches on the western edge of the preserve.You're also welcome to try shore fishing or have picnics along the scenic and isolated banks.For a truly unique experience, visit the EnergyExplorium at McGuire Nuclear Station during your trip to Huntersville.There are few other places in the country where the whole family can learn about nuclear energy with engaging exhibits and awesome displays.EnergyExplorium is one of these rare attractions, kept at a distance from McGuire Nuclear Station for every visitor's safety.Not only will you learn about nuclear energy, but you will also get to know other energy sources, such as the hydroelectric dam on the Catawba River.In fact, EnergyExplorium sits on the southernmost end of Lake Norman, right where the Catawba River is dammed.So aside from trips in the halls of the educational facility, you can also enjoy the scenic lakeside views of the area.There are even nature trails and a butterfly garden that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.Join the Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around the trees and into the lakeside front.For those who want to try sporty activities that do not involve water, there's a sand volleyball court perfect for a playful match under the sun.Visit the concession stand on one section of the park if you need to refuel from intense games or simply need more food for your picnic.Watch Rare Birds at Cowans Ford Wildlife RefugeCowans Ford Wildlife Refuge is a protected area sitting on the eastern banks of the Catawba River near Rural Hill.It's underdeveloped, with no discernable trails or modern amenities for tourists.And it's been kept that way to protect the riparian habitat from human encroachment and preserve the pristine landscape.That's because this 668-acre peninsula is home to a wide range of flora and fauna, particularly avian species.In fact, the refuge is designated as a North Carolina Important Bird Area.So if you're an avid birdwatcher, then a visit to this place will definitely be the highlight of your Huntersville adventure.Most people are not allowed to head into the wider areas, limited only to the viewing platform at the end of the road.So bring your binoculars or high-power cameras to capture images of neotropical migrants, birds of prey, waterfowl, and other species as they hunt, forage, and breed.It's an all-seasons destination, so you can visit anytime if you plan on seeing particular species of visiting birds.Immerse in History at Rural HillScot Campbell, CC BY-SA 2.0, via Wikimedia CommonsSpanning 265 acres of rolling hills and forests, Rural Hill is a gorgeous attraction that combines natural beauty and manmade wonders.This facility is a mix of a nature preserve, historic site, events space, and cultural center that's open for kids and adults.Aside from being once a plantation, Rural Hill is the home of Scottish settlers who came to Huntersville in the 1700s.So there are more than 250 years of Scottish heritage celebrated during the Rural Highland Scottish Festival and Loch Norman Highland Games—held right at the facility's grounds.It's a unique cultural activity that you definitely shouldn't miss!Aside from these events, the facility is open for educational tours, summer camps, and even weddings.Check out their calendar to see the list of upcoming activities that you're welcome to visit after your tour of EnergyExplorium.The Fun at Frankie's of CharlotteVenkat Parkuman / Shutterstock.comFrankies is a well-loved amusement park company in the state, and one of their bigger facilities is located in Charlotte.It's the perfect family destination for those who want to try a wide range of exhilarating and memorable activities.By combining arcade, racing, and mini-golf elements, the park offers a comprehensive set of attractions—the only thing missing is a water park.But the rest is more than enough for a whole day's worth of fun.Test your driving skills by joining a race on their two tracks or brave the G-forces by riding their Pirate Ship, Tea Cups, and Swings.For those who want to try team sports, there's a Laser Tag arena and virtual reality games that require good synergy and communication.The arcade is great for kids and adults who want to play classic games and revamped versions that will challenge your eye and hand coordination skills—there are hundreds to choose from!To refuel after an intense round, visit the cafe or lounge for a quick and satisfying bite.Go Fishing at Lake NormanMany of Huntersville's attractions border Lake Norman, so it makes sense that you should explore all the wonders of the destination since you're already so close.It's actually the largest artificial body of water in North Carolina, formed in 1959 after the Catawba River was dammed.Now, it spans more than 32,500 acres in total surface area, surrounded by cities and towns that rely on its waters for irrigation and energy.Due to its expansive area, the lake has become the home to a wide range of plants and animals native to the Piedmont region.You can book a charter from Huntersville to try catching some of the aquatic species lurking in the depths, such as catfish and various types of bass.If you're not up for fishing, then simply stay on the beaches along the banks for sunbathing, strolling, and sightseeing.You can also try spotting the birds of prey and waterfowl hunting or frolicking on the shallower spots of the lake.Have a Fun Family Day at Blythe Landing ParkBlythe Landing Park is a panoramic 26-acre attraction sitting right next to Lake Norman.Instead of vast green grass, the grounds of this destination are mostly covered by tall trees, offering lots of secluded and shady spots for picnics.And since it sits next to the body of water, you'll have plenty of opportunities for water-related activities.There are even a few boat launches on the park and nearby shores.Within the forest grounds, there are plenty of picnic benches, barbeque spots, and nature trails that wind around